PREFACE

The Criminal Code Reform Commission (CCRC) submits this quarterly report summarizing its recent activities, as required by statute.<sup>1</sup> This report concerns the fourth quarter of FY 2018, from July 1 through September 30, 2018. The CCRC's last quarterly report, on the third quarter of FY 2018, was submitted to the Council on August 28, 2018.<sup>2</sup>

CCRC STATUTORY AUTHORITY

The CCRC began operation as a new, independent District agency on October 1, 2016, pursuant to the Council of the District of Columbia's Fiscal Year 2017 Budget Support Act of 2016. The CCRC is tasked with submitting to the Mayor and the Council comprehensive criminal code reform recommendations to revise the language of the District's criminal statutes within specified parameters.<sup>3</sup> In preparing these reform recommendations, the CCRC is required to consult with a Code Revision Advisory Group (Advisory Group), a statutorily designated group of stakeholders who review and provide information and suggestions on proposals prepared by the CCRC. The Advisory Group consists of 5 voting members and 2 nonvoting members.<sup>4</sup> Approval by a majority of the Advisory Group is required for final recommendations to be submitted to the Council and the Mayor.<sup>5</sup> In preparing its reform recommendations the CCRC also reviews criminal code reforms in other jurisdictions, changes to criminal offenses recommended by the American Law Institute, and best practices recommended by criminal law

By September 30, 2019, the Commission shall submit to the Mayor and the Council comprehensive criminal code reform recommendations that revise the language of the District's criminal statutes to: (1) Use clear and plain language; (2) Apply consistent, clearly articulated definitions; (3) Describe all elements, including mental states, that must be proven; (4) Reduce unnecessary overlap and gaps between criminal offenses; (5) Eliminate archaic and unused offenses; (6) Adjust penalties, fines, and the gradation of offenses to provide for proportionate penalties; (7) Organize existing criminal statutes in a logical order; (8) Identify any crimes defined in common law that should be codified, and propose recommended language for codification, as appropriate; (9) Identify criminal statutes that have been held to be unconstitutional and recommend their removal or amendment; (10) Propose such other amendments as the Commission believes are necessary; and (11) Enable the adoption of Title 22 as an enacted title of the District of Columbia Official Code.

<sup>4</sup> The current voting members of the Advisory Group are: Don Braman, Associate Professor of Law, George Washington University School of Law (Council Appointee); Paul Butler, Professor of Law, Georgetown University Law Center (Council Appointee); Renata Kendrick Cooper, Special Counsel for Policy and Legislative Affairs, United States Attorney's Office for the District of Columbia (Designee of the United States Attorney for the District of Columbia); Laura Hankins, General Counsel, Public Defender Service for the District of Columbia (Designee of the Director of the Public Defender Service for the District of Columbia); and Dave Rosenthal, Senior Assistant Attorney General, Office of the Attorney General for the District of Columbia (Designee of the Attorney General for the District of Columbia).

The current non-voting members of the Advisory Group are: Kevin Whitfield, Policy Advisor, Committee on the Judiciary and Public Safety (Designee of the Chairperson of the Council Committee on the Judiciary and Public Safety); and Helder Gil, Legislative and Policy Advisor, Office of the City Administrator (Designee of the Deputy Mayor for Public Safety and Justice).

NOTABLE CCRC ACTIVITIES JULY 2018 - SEPTEMBER 2018

Development of Reform Recommendations

The CCRC's work to develop recommendations for reform of District criminal statutes has been generally guided by the Work Plan and Schedule that was first provided to the Council on February 9, 2017, as part of the agency's 2016 Annual Report. The Work Plan divides the development of code reform recommendations under the CCRC's statutory mandate into four Phases. The CCRC's activities during the fourth quarter of FY 2018 continued its work on Phase 2 (General Provisions for a new Title 22A) and Phase 3 (Reformed Offenses for a new Title 22A) of the Work Plan.

As part of Phase 2, the CCRC continued its development of reform recommendations to the Council and Mayor that provide a standard toolkit of rules, definitions, and principles for establishing criminal liability that will apply to all reformed offenses. Such work addresses several of the agency's statutory mandates.<sup>7</sup> Specifically, in the fourth quarter, CCRC staff delivered to its Advisory Group for comment two new draft reports as part of Phase 2, as follows:

- On July 20, 2018, the CCRC issued its First Draft of Report #25, Merger, providing draft recommendations for a new statute addressing the merger of offenses for purposes of sentencing. Under the draft merger statute, in the absence of contrary legislative intent, there is a presumption that multiple convictions for two or more offenses arising from the same course of conduct merge whenever certain conditions exist, such as:
  - One offense is established by proof of the same or less than all the facts required to establish the commission of the other offense; or
  - The offenses differ only in that:
    - One prohibits a less serious harm or wrong to the same person, property, or public interest;
    - One may be satisfied by a lesser kind of culpability; or;
    - One is defined to prohibit a designated kind of conduct generally, and the other is defined to prohibit a specific instance of such conduct; or
  - One offense reasonably accounts for the other offense given the harm or wrong, culpability, and penalty proscribed by each;
- On September 26, 2018, the CCRC issued its First Draft of Report #30: Withdrawal Defense & Exceptions to Legal Accountability and General Inchoate Liability, providing draft recommendations for a new statute. Under the draft statute, in the absence of contrary legislative intent, a person is not legally accountable for the conduct of another when: (1) The person is a victim of the offense; or (2) The person's conduct is inevitably incident to commission of the offense as defined by statute.

Subsequent discussion of the draft merger recommendations occurred at the September 5, 2018 Advisory Group Meeting. In the fourth quarter the CCRC also discussed with the Advisory Group their written comments on previously circulated draft recommendations concerning Phase 2 general provisions for accomplice liability.<sup>8</sup> Discussion occurred at the August 1, 2018 Advisory Group Meeting.

As part of Phase 3, the CCRC continued its development of reform recommendations to the Council and Mayor that concern certain common and serious offenses. Specifically, in the fourth quarter, CCRC staff delivered to its Advisory Group for comment six new draft reports concerning offenses against persons and public order offenses, as follows:

- On July 20, 2018, the CCRC issued its First Draft of Report #23, Disorderly Conduct and Public Nuisance for Advisory Group review. These reformed statutes would replace the affrays statute<sup>9</sup> and parts of the disorderly conduct statute<sup>10</sup> in the current D.C. Code.
- On July 20, 2018, the CCRC issued its First Draft of Report #24, Failure to Disperse and Rioting for Advisory Group review. These reformed statutes would replace the rioting statute<sup>11</sup> in the current D.C. Code, and clarify the existing municipal regulation regarding failure to obey a law enforcement officer.<sup>12</sup>
- On September 26, 2018, the CCRC issued its First Draft of Report #26, Sexual Assault and Related Provisions for Advisory Group review. These reformed statutes would replace the crimes and several other provisions currently in Chapter 30 (Sexual Abuse) of Title 22 of the D.C. Code.
- On September 26, 2018, the CCRC issued its First Draft of Report #27, Human Trafficking and Related Statutes for Advisory Group review. These reformed statutes would replace the crimes currently in Chapter 18A (Human Trafficking) of Title 22 of the D.C. Code, as well as parts of various statutes in Chapter 27 (Prostitution; Pandering) of Title 22 of the D.C. Code.

<sup>8</sup> The CCRC issued its First Draft of Report #22, Accomplice Liability and Related Provisions on May 18, 2018.

- On September 26, 2018, the CCRC issued its First Draft of Report #28, Stalking for Advisory Group review. This reformed statute would replace the stalking provisions currently in Chapter 31A (Stalking) of Title 22 of the current D.C. Code.
- On September 26, 2018, the CCRC issued its First Draft of Report #29, Failure to Arrest for Advisory Group review. This report recommends the repeal of the current failure to arrest statute.<sup>13</sup>

Advisory Group members provided written comments on the First Drafts of Reports #23 and #24 on September 14, 2018. Those comments were on the agenda for the CCRC's October 3, 2018 and November 5, 2018 Advisory Group meetings (first quarter of FY 19). In the fourth quarter the CCRC also discussed with the Advisory Group their written comments on previously circulated draft recommendations concerning Phase 3 offenses against persons, including kidnapping and criminal restraint.<sup>14</sup> Discussion occurred at the August 1, 2018 Advisory Group Meeting.

When finalized, the recommendations developed in Phases 2 and 3 of the Work Plan will be combined with later work in Phase 4, forming a single, cohesive set of reform recommendations for District crimes in an enacted Title 22. The combined, final reform recommendations will be presented in the CCRC's final report(s) to the Council and Mayor by the statutory deadline.

Agency Administration & Other Activities

Data. In the fourth quarter the agency continued to work with the Lab in the Office of the City Administrator to clean and preliminarily analyze data received February 2, 2018 from the D.C. Superior Court ("Court") concerning certain adult charging and sentencing dispositions for the time period 2010-2016. This data set had been provided in response to the agency's September 8, 2017 request. On July 18, 2018, the CCRC provided to the Advisory Group its preliminary analysis of this data. On July 13, 2018, the CCRC also received an extension of its standing Data Use Agreement ("DUA") with the court through September 2019.

Staffing. In July and early August 2018, the agency hosted four summer legal interns. The interns performed legal research on a variety of topics under review by agency staff, and social science research on public opinions on the relative seriousness of various common offenses. The interns also helped develop a trial survey of District residents' opinions on the relative seriousness of various types of offenses.

Council Testimony. On July 11, 2018 the CCRC Executive Director provided oral and written testimony to the Committee on the Judiciary and Public Safety's public hearing on the Protection from Sexual Extortion Amendment Act of 2017.

<sup>14</sup> The CCRC issued its First Draft of Report #21, Kidnapping and Related Offenses on May 18, 2018.

CONCLUSION

The CCRC's code reform work in the fourth quarter of FY 2018 focused primarily on preparation and issuance to its Advisory Group of new draft recommendations for reformed criminal statutes. These draft recommendations included general provisions on merger and exceptions to legal liability for actions of another. Other draft recommendations concerned offenses against persons and public order offenses, including reformed statutes concerning: disorderly conduct, public nuisance, failure to disperse, rioting, stalking, failure to arrest, and numerous sexual offense and human trafficking statutes. Staff also discussed with the agency's Advisory Group recent written comments submitted on draft reform recommendations, including: accomplice liability, kidnapping, and criminal restraint. In total, staff issued 8 new reports to the Advisory Group containing draft reform recommendations, and the Advisory Group met three times during the fourth quarter to discuss new and previously circulated draft recommendations. The agency also provided to the Advisory Group its preliminary analysis of court data concerning certain adult charging and sentencing dispositions for the time period 2010-2016.

All agency draft recommendations, as well as minutes for the agency's Advisory Group meetings are available on the CCRC website at www.ccrdc.gov. For additional details or questions about the CCRC's activities or operation, please contact the agency's Executive Director.

Please note that, given the CCRC's extension through FY 2019,<sup>15</sup> a Schedule for FY 19 & FY 20 development of reform recommendations to current District offenses has been created that will guide future work. This updated Schedule is attached to this quarterly report as Appendix A.

<sup>15</sup> Council legislation approved during the third quarter of FY 18 extended the CCRC's statutory funding and authorization one year, to September 30, 2019. See B22-0754 - Fiscal Year 2019 Local Budget Act of 2018, and B22-0753 - Fiscal Year 2019 Budget Support Act of 2018.

Appendix A to CCRC FY 2018 Fourth Quarter Report

From: Richard Schmechel, Executive Director
Date: November 16, 2018
Re: Schedule for FY 19 & FY 20 development of reform recommendations to current District offenses

With its statutory extension through FY 19 and anticipated extension through half or all of FY 20, the CCRC has updated its planned sequence for upcoming work to maximize output. The below table provides the planned sequence and other relevant information. The table is provided for general oversight and planning purposes only, and is subject to change by the Executive Director.

Work Sequence for Reform of Existing Offenses

The below table identifies:

1. Most<sup>1</sup> crimes codified in the D.C. Code.
2. All statutory sections in Title 22, including sections with non-crime provisions that must be part of enactment of a revised Title 22; and
3. Those D.C. Municipal regulations that both include crimes and have been charged<sup>2</sup> against adults in Superior Court in recent years.

Columns A-C of the table specify statutory citations and names.

Column D indicates the status of the statutory section in the CCRC's work plan using numbers and color coding. A "1" marks statutory sections for which the agency has issued to its Advisory Group draft reform recommendations. A "2" marks statutory sections for which the agency expects to issue draft recommendations to its Advisory Group in the current FY 19. A "3" marks statutory sections that the agency expects to prioritize next, in FY 20, depending largely on whether the agency's mandate is extended through all of FY 20. A "4" marks statutory sections

<sup>1</sup> The table was compiled from various sources. While the list includes all Title 22 crimes and other crimes actually charged in recent years, the list is likely under-inclusive. A conservative method was used for listing regulatory provisions that reference the same penalty provision. The table has been updated frequently, but may contain errors.

<sup>2</sup> Note that the listed DCMR regulations do not include provisions for which there was only juvenile charging, and does not address adult arrests or convictions.

that are second priorities, time permitting, in FY 20. A “5” marks statutory sections which are not currently planned for review by the agency.

Column E indicates whether the statutory section was or was not charged against adults in D.C. Superior Court’s Criminal Division in the seven years spanning 2010-2016, or whether the statutory section is simply not a crime. Note that this column does not include juvenile charging, or adult arrests or convictions. The information in column E is based on an analysis that was performed by the CCRC and The Lab @ DC, a policy lab in the Office of the City Administrator (OCA), based on data provided to the CCRC by the D.C. Courts in early 2018.<sup>3</sup> Additional caveats regarding the source data from the D.C. Courts and the methodology of the CCRC analysis presented in column E is available on request.

Column F indicates the current maximum imprisonment penalty authorized for the crime in the D.C. Code, in terms of years (“Y”), months (“M”) or days (“D”). A crime subject to more than one year imprisonment is a felony, and crimes subject to 6 months or more imprisonment are jury-demandable.

Highlights of Work Sequence for Reform of Existing District Offenses

As the table makes evident, the agency cannot revise all District crimes with its current time and resources. Hundreds of crimes exist in the D.C. Code and Municipal Regulations that have never been charged in Superior Court in recent years, and mostly concern regulatory violations. The CCRC has no plans to review such offenses at present. However, by prioritizing the most common and serious offenses in current use (tiers 1-3 in column D), it is possible to revise the approximately 250 crimes that accounted for over 96% of all adult convictions in recent years. That goal is reachable if the CCRC is extended through all of FY 20, but the agency will fall short of the goal if given only a 6 month extension into FY 20.

FY 17-19. The CCRC has already issued draft recommendations to its Advisory Group regarding most offenses against persons and property offenses. This is in addition to the new draft general provisions it has issued for Advisory Group review. In current FY 19 the CCRC plans to issue draft recommendations for nearly all remaining felony crimes in frequent use, including several sex-related and drug and weapon offenses. This is in addition to providing comprehensive statutory penalty recommendations for all crimes revised by the agency in the summer of 2019 and issuing updated drafts of nearly all offenses previously-revised by the

<sup>3</sup> This analysis was based only on unsealed adult charges and convictions for which there was a disposition 2010-2016 in the D.C. Superior Court Criminal Division. Charges and convictions which were pending but not disposed of in this timeframe are not included in this analysis. Charges and convictions adjudicated in the D.C. Superior Court’s Domestic Violence Unit or Family Court are not included in this analysis. Charges and convictions that were sealed, for example under the Youth Rehabilitation Act (YRA) or as a sentence for first-time drug offenders,<sup>3</sup> are not included in this analysis.

CCRC to address prior Advisory Group comments in the winter of 2019. By the close of FY 19, the agency expects to have issued recommendations to the Advisory Group covering crimes in the D.C. Code that constituted over 83% of all adult convictions in recent (2010-2016) years.<sup>4</sup>

FY 20. The extent to which the CCRC will make recommendations regarding additional offenses in FY 20 depends largely on whether it is extended through the full fiscal year. To finalize all outstanding draft recommendations, to draft Title 22 enactment legislation, and to develop introductory and summary materials to accompany the final recommendations is expected to take 4-6 months. If the CCRC were extended only 6 months into FY 20, this would provide little time for further forward progress on existing offenses in FY 20. In such a half-year extension scenario, priority would be given to offenses partially reviewed in prior years<sup>5</sup> and some frequently prosecuted misdemeanors.<sup>6</sup> On the other hand, extension for a full year in FY 20 would provide the agency 6-8 months for effectively moving forward with recommendations for tier 3, and perhaps some tier 4, offenses. The majority of the tier 3 offenses concern offenses against government operations, for example, obstruction of justice, bribery, and public corruption. The bulk of the tier 4 offenses, which the agency may be able to review with a full year extension, concern gambling and animal cruelty in title 22, and traffic crimes in Title 50.

Whatever the time is provided by the Mayor and Council, the agency plans to maximize the District offenses it reviews, prioritizing work per the tiered sequence in the table below.

Caveats Regarding the Sequence in the Table & Agency Work Not Included in the Table

Please note that the work sequence in the table is an estimate subject to many variables that may diminish (or in some cases extend) the number of statutory sections that can be reviewed in a given period of time. These variables include:

- Agency staff loss or unanticipated extended leave;
- New court decisions or legislation (District or federal) affecting draft recommendations;
- Delays in preparation of recommendations for statutory sections other than current offenses (see below);
- Advisory Group comments requiring additional drafts of issued recommendations; and
- Advisory Group disagreement that delays a vote to approve the final recommendations.

<sup>4</sup> The CCRC's review of felonies that have resulted in adult convictions will be even higher by the end of FY 19. The only felonies that have resulted in more than a few annual adult convictions in recent years that will remain unreviewed at the end of FY 19 are: 22-722 obstruction of justice; 22-951 criminal street gangs; 22-2402 perjury; 22-2705 pandering; and 23-1327(a) failure to appear. These felonies, and some others that are more rare, are scheduled for the CCRC's tier 3 review in FY20, depending on the length of the agency's extension.

<sup>5</sup> Most notably, this includes 22-2701 prostitution and over a dozen related offenses. Many of these offenses already were reviewed as part of the human trafficking draft recommendations, insofar as they involve the use of force or violence to compel another to engage in a sexual act or contact.

Also, please note that the agency's work on several code reform recommendations are not included in the below table. These additional recommendations include general defenses (e.g. use of force in self-defense) and miscellaneous other general provisions. Work on general defenses will begin in FY 19 and, with a full year extension, is planned for completion by the end of FY 20. As noted above, recommendations regarding penalties is planned for the summer of 2019.

Lastly, please note that the planned work sequence does not account for preparation for legislative hearings or roundtables on the CCRC's preliminary or final recommendations. The agency has reached out to the Council to determine whether and how it may be called upon to provide testimony or support to such legislative activity. Even though a major part of the agency's efforts involve the development of a written commentary on the meaning and effect of recommended changes to statutory language, the ability of the Mayor or Council to call on agency staff to speak to the meaning of the agency's final recommendations may prove critical to implementation of the agency's work.

Final Recommendations

The Commission's final recommendations, per D.C. Code § 3-152, will include:

- Reformed statutory language for most serious and frequently prosecuted District offenses (see table below for prioritization);
- New statutory language that codifies consistent general provisions (e.g., mental state requirements, definitions), and at least some general defenses, applicable to reformed offenses;
- Written commentary explaining the meaning of the reformed language and how and why the reformed statutory language changes current District law;
- A record of Advisory Group written comments on draft recommendations and their disposition;
- Relevant statistical information; and
- A bill to enact Title 22 that incorporates the Commission's reform recommendations.

Please do not hesitate to contact me with questions regarding the below table or any other aspect of the agency's work.
